Local anesthesia for the practicing dental hygienist is a 5 day local anesthesia course that will prepare the practicing dental hygienist to take the Western Regional Local Anesthesia Examination or an equivalent examination. The next WREB local anesthesia board exam will be offered from March 2nd – 4th, 2012 at UNM, allowing the dental hygienist who successfully completes the course to take the local anesthesia board following this course. WREB anesthesia application deadline is January 17th, 2012. Dental hygienists planning to take the WREB exam must register on line at www.wreb.org to qualify to take the exam.

This five day course includes all the information that is taught in the UNM semester long local anesthesia course (no course information or requirements are excluded) and is completed within five days rather than an entire semester, allowing the practicing dental hygienist the opportunity to receive licensure in local anesthesia. Dental hygienist who register for this course will receive the course packet and textbook on the first day of class. Class size is limited, so registrations will be accepted on a first come basis. Participants need to bring two syringes and safety glasses.
